THE SQUARE DEAL IN NEW LONDON

 engineer who planned the work and at the stupidity of the city fathers of long ago for permitting such a narrow passage-way as exists even today. In both instances referred to those having charge of the work undoubtedly were of opinion that they had not only provided for the use of their day but also for the future and in both instances there was miscalculation of the growth of New London. Therefore it would seem that there is nothing extravagant in Mayor Mahan's ideas of providing for the future of the city when he advocates the annexation of the big town of Waterford in order to give the city room to expand and become one of the great cities of the future.

It is said that one of the first moves of the Municipal Art society will be an appeal to the merchants who have those porcelain lettered signs on their show windows. There is hardly a sign of that description in New London that is not marred by the absence of some of the letters which have dropped off and not been replaced. The merchants will be asked to see to it that as soon as one of these letters become loosened that they be cemented back into place, for it is urged that neglected signs are not signs that New London is a progressive city and certain letters are detrimental to the city beautiful idea.

The absence of letters from some of these signs has ridiculous effect and in some instances evil-minded persons have opportunity to put wrong interpretation of the reading of the signs with the missing letters. To strangers these signs leave a bad impression of the city and give them a subject to adverse criticism of the enterprise of the merchants, as there are many people in these enlightened times who are believers in signs.

A day and night policeman has been detailed for traffic duty at State street railroad crossing by order of Mayor Mahan in the interests of public safety, and for the general accommodation of foot passengers as protection from the dangers of automobiles and other vehicles at that much crowded section, especially upon the arrival and just before the departure of the New London and Groton ferry boat. The regular crossing tenders are so busied in guiding the running of trains for the safety of pedestrians and vehicles that they can give no attention to the confusion at the approaches. Mayor Mahan noticed the dangerous conditions that existed and wisely decided that there was need for police as well as railroad regulation.

Before many more summers it will be found necessary to have a regular traffic squad, not so large as that maintained in New York, but enough to insure safety at the corner of Bank and State streets, State and Main streets, at Union and State street, as well as at and near the railway station. There is also need for traffic police work on the Parade where the trolley cars receive and deliver passengers in large numbers, as many times a day people are in danger of being run down by automobiles while on the trolley and from the sidewalk. A policeman at this point with raised hand would mean as much to the automobilists as does the tooting of a horn from an automobile, and even more for the trolley car. The policeman would mean as much to the automobilists as does the tooting of a horn from an automobile, and even more for the trolley car. The policeman would mean as much to the automobilists as does the tooting of a horn from an automobile, and even more for the trolley car.

There is actual semblance of government possession of the naval station on the Thames, after many years of practical desertion, but it is said that the present occupation is only temporary and at best will be only during the summer months. This time it is a school for officers of the marine corps and of necessity there are enlisted men in order that the young officers may be better instructed in the matter of drill and the enforcement of discipline. The full strength of the station is now about one hundred officers and men.

New buildings have been constructed for the accommodation of those attending the summer school and all the other buildings at the station will be utilized for varied purposes in connection with the course of instruction. The occupancy of the station even at this late day may result in the government having a better knowledge of the natural advantages and realize its importance for permanent use either as a real navy yard or training station or something else along that line. It may be that the school for naval engineers' idea may be revived, which would mean the erection and operation of fine machine shops and general technical departments. And again, it may be that the dream of the early promoters of the station may be realized and the station become "the great navy yard of the future." New London is thankful to the government even for the present recognition and hopes for greater recognition in the future.

There seems to be public demand for public play grounds in different sections of the city and several are already established. The funds for carrying on this plan is raised in private ways, the city not making any appropriation for play grounds. These places are very much enjoyed by the children and will prove very beneficial to them, as each ground has its qualified instructor in charge, who see to it that the children get all the benefit possible without danger of over-doing themselves, their exercise and play being selected for them according to their physical ability.

Some children, accompanied by their parents or guardians, prefer the Memorial park to the regularly established play grounds and find much pleasure romping about on the grass and in playing the lightest kind of games, mostly with soft balls, bean bags and jack-stones. But just because these children after rubbing their lunch through the boxes and papers on the grass, the dear public puts up such a strong howl that there is already talk of barring the children from playing in the park and of posting signs in prominent places warning the children to "Keep Off the Grass."

While there is general favor of public play grounds it is difficult to imagine what valid objection there can be to little tots having harmless sport in Memorial park even if they do throw paper and paper boxes in the section they have selected for their play ground. The expense of picking up the scraps each morning is infinitesimal in comparison with the children's fun in the park. That consistency-jewel quotation is destined to last forever. It is too good to die.

dinner table, a banquet, a consolation inside of man, in these days of scientific economy and providence has become everything but a blessing. Man no longer faces famine joyously to eat his own self up, as it were. Nor has he time and inclination to sit around and laugh and grow fat to enjoy it against lean times of the year. What was once an unspeakable comfort and economy has grown to be an embarrassment of motion, to say the least. Railroads and ships are mostly the

Why Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless; Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food; Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

The Kind You Have Always Bought and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

GENUINE CASTORIA
 Bears the Signature of

Letters from Prominent Physicians Addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. W. L. Leister, of Rogers, Ark., says: "As a practicing physician I use Castoria and like it very much."

Dr. W. T. Seeley, of Andover, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria for several years in my practice and have found it a safe and reliable remedy."

Dr. Raymond M. Everts, of Santa Ynez, Cal., says: "After using your Castoria for children for years it annoys me greatly to have an ignorant druggist substitute something else, especially to the patient's disadvantage, as in this case. I enclose herewith the wrapper of the imitation."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

Dr. W. F. Wallace, of Bradford, N. H., says: "I use your Castoria in my practice, and in my family."

Dr. Wm. I. McCann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine and aside from my own family experience, I have, in my years of practice, found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. Howard James, of New York, City, says: "It is with great pleasure that I desire to testify to the medicinal virtue of your Castoria. I have used it with marked benefit in the case of my own daughter, and have obtained excellent results from its administration to other children in my practice."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria every day for infants during my practice and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Channing H. Cook, of Saint Louis, Mo., says: "I have used your Castoria for several years past in my own family and have always found it thoroughly efficient and never objected to by children, which is a great consideration in view of the fact that most medicines of this character are obnoxious and therefore difficult of administration. As a laxative I consider it the peer of anything that I ever prescribed."

Dr. L. O. Morgan, of So. Amboy, N. J., says: "I prescribe your Castoria every day for children who are suffering from constipation, with better effect than I receive from any other combination of drugs."

Dr. H. J. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. Wm. L. Bosserman, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I am pleased to speak a good word for your Castoria. I think so highly of it that I not only recommend it to others, but have used it in my own family."

Dr. F. H. Kyle, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "It affords me pleasure to add my name to the long list of those who have used and now endorse your Castoria. The fact of the ingredients being known through the printing of the formula on the wrapper is one good and sufficient reason for the recommendation of any physician. I know of its good qualities and recommend it cheerfully."
